U. S. SENATOR STONE SUFFERS SHOCK

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 10.—Senator Stone of Missouri, chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, was stricken with paralysis while riding in a street car. He was removed to the senate office building where medical assistance was summoned. Later he was taken home. The attack affected the Senator's left side. He was about to fall when two other passengers on the car caught him. A physician who made a hasty examination declared while the Senator's condition was serious it was not critical.

THE S. A. IN THE WORLD WAR.

"The S. A. in the World War" is the title of a lecture to be given by Mrs. Lawrence at the Salvation Army hall on State street this Thursday evening at 8 o'clock. The lecture will be illustrated by moving and colored pictures taken at the front in France. There will be no charge for admission. There are several interesting war scenes to be shown, "Liquid Fire," "The Destruction of the Cathedral at Rheims," and others.

(By Associated Press)
London, April 10.—The artillery bombardment is extended southward to Arras. The enemy has brought into action a tremendous concentration of artillery and is bringing in its infantry in dense masses. The Germans, the writer declares, plainly are making another effort to break through the Allies' position.

AIR CRAFT OUTPUT IS DISAPPOINTING

Senate Committee Attacks War Record

(By Associated Press)

Washington, April 10.—The government aircraft output is characterized as "gravely disappointing" and a drastic reorganization of productive machinery is recommended. In a report by the senate military committee today, which charges government officials with misrepresenting the situation and misleading the public and with "procrastination" and "indolence" one man control of production is proposed and a committee suggests that building be taken entirely out of the hands of the Signal Corps. Delay is charged not only in the manufacture of the liberty motors and parts but in the training of fliers as well. The committee recommends that the one man administrator be appointed by the President and assisted by a corps of expert engineers and designers. It suggests that "no man who has any near or remote interest in a company manufacturing airplanes or engines be permitted to act as an adviser or be in authority."

The Portsmouth Navy Yard is in great need of skilled and unskilled labor. Never in the history of the yard has there been as much work going on for such a demand for labor, both skilled and unskilled, as at the present time.

Unskilled men are started as general helpers, and those between the ages of nineteen and thirty-five who show aptitude and willingness are sent to a trade school. As soon as they have gained sufficient knowledge, they are given a rating in the trade to which they are assigned. This is an excellent opportunity for a young man to learn a trade as each man is paid $2.96 per diem for eight hours during the time he is going to school and he is given every advantage possible to facilitate his acquiring a knowledge of a trade. A man eligible for work at the navy yard must be a citizen of the United States.

For further information apply to the Labor Board at the Portsmouth Navy Yard, Portsmouth, New Hampshire.

BOSTON MAN TO HIRE TEN GIRL FARMERS

Brattleboro, Vt., April 10.—Arrangements were completed yesterday by Liberty S. Tenney, manager of the Scott Farm, owned by Frederick Holbrook of Boston and Brattleboro to employ ten young women on the farm the coming season.

They constitute one of the units assembled by Miss Bertha Terrell, professor of home economics at the University of Vermont. They will occupy a cottage at the farm and the manager will do their housekeeping. They will wear khaki uniforms. Some are students in the agricultural department of the university and will use their earnings to help pay their college expenses.

Mrs. Russell Tyson of Chicago has secured two Amherst Agricultural college young women to assist in the outdoor work at the farm here which she owns.

TURN HAIR DARK WITH SAGE TEA

Grandma Kept Her Locks Dark, Glossy and Youthful With a Simple Mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur

The old-time mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur for darkening gray, streaked and faded hair is grandmother's recipe, and folks are again using it to keep their hair a good, even color which is quite sensible, as we are living in an age when a youthful appearance is of the greatest advantage.

Nowadays though, we don't have the troublesome task of gathering the sage and mussy mixture at home. All drug stores sell the ready-to-use product, improved by the addition of other ingredients, called "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." It is very popular because nobody can discover it has been applied. Simply moisten your comb of a soft brush with it and draw this through your hair taking one small strand at a time by morning the gray hair disappears, but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that, besides beautifully darkening the hair after a few applications, it also produces that soft lustre and appearance of abundance which is so attractive. This ready-to-use preparation is a delightful toilet requisite for those who desire a more youthful appearance. It is not intended for the cure, prevention or mitigation of disease.

PREMIER GEORGE WARNS ENGLAND OF GREAT SACRIFICE

Said That in Somme Battle Germans Had More Men Than Combined Allied Army

London, April 9.—Premier Lloyd George told the House of Commons today that when the battle on the Somme front commenced the total combatant strength of the German army on the west front was approximately equal to the total of the Entente Allies. He said his man-power proposal would involve an extreme sacrifice by part of the population of Great Britain.

The Cambrai battle, he declared, was a very trivial event when compared with the recent battle, and until the strain had relaxed it would be difficult to find out exactly what had happened. In the course of his speech the British premier said:

"We have now entered the most critical period of the war. There is a lull in the storm but the hurricane is not yet over. The fate of the Empire, of Europe and of liberty may depend upon the success with which the last German attack is resisted and countered."

The premier said the cabinet had taken every step to hurry reinforcements. The number of guns and prisoners taken had been exaggerated grossly by the Germans. The ministry of munitions, he added, had been able to replace the guns, and there were substantial reserves left. The cabinet was confident the army would be equal to the next encounter.

Fatal to Underestimate Gravity
Mr. Lloyd George said the cabinet had decided to recall General Gough, who was in command of the Fifth army, against which the Germans made their principal gains. Until all the circumstances of his retirement were known, however, it would be unfair, he said, to censure him. Having gained an initial success, he continued, the enemy was preparing a greater attack and it would be a fatal error to underestimate the gravity of the prospect.

In view of the critical period which had been reached, said the premier, the Government proposed to submit to Parliament today certain recommendations in order to assist the country and its allies to weather the storm. He regretted to say that these proposals involved extreme sacrifices on the part of large classes of the population, and nothing would justify them except the most extreme necessity and the fact that the nation was fighting for all which was essential and most sacred to the national life.

Battle at One Time Critical
The Germans attacked with 27 divisions (approximately 1,100,000 men), the premier told the House. They were relying on the idea that the Allies had no united command and expected to divide the French and British armies. At one time of the battle the situation was critical. The enemy broke through between the third and fifth armies. The situation was relieved by the magnificent conduct of the troops, which retarded but were not routed.

The foremost regarding probable enemy attacks made by General Sir Henry Wilson, Chief of the Imperial Staff, was characterized by the premier as the most remarkable ever made. In opening the battle, he continued, the Germans had an exceptional advantage in the weather, which was dirty and misty. They had organized their troops to produce a greater number of divisions and had the advantage of the consequent knowledge as to the width strength and dimensions of the attack. There were large concentrations of German troops at various points of the line. Owing to the ease with which troops could be moved at night, he explained, the element of surprise could not be eliminated.

Foch Appointment Vital
No army was ever before transferred across the channel as quickly as were the troops sent to relieve the situation, the premier asserted. He referred to the appointment of General Foch to supreme command of the Allied strategy and said it was the most important decision which had been taken regarding the coming battle.

The premier said the fighting strength of the Americans would be brought to bear immediately, although it was impossible to put into France at the moment the number of trained Americans as a separate army that had been expected. They would be brought with Allied troops.

Two Turkish Armies Destroyed
Referring to the Turkish campaign, he said two Turkish armies had been destroyed, in Palestine and Mesopotamia. German battalions had been sent to help the Turks in Palestine, thereby relieving the western front.

Britain's Army and Navy Almost 8,000,000.

The premier said the fight might continue for seven or eight months. For the British army and navy, he stated, almost 8,000,000 men had been raised already.

Tribute to President Wilson
The issue of the great battle might well be determined, Mr. Lloyd George declared, by the dramatic intervention of President Wilson and his action in placing the American troops at the disposal of the Allies. It was impossible to overestimate the President's offer, as the battle might very well be the decisive struggle of the war. He added that the German attack had stirred up the resolution and determination of America beyond anything that had yet been heard.

The British reserves, he said further, had been drawn upon to a considerable extent to make up for wastage. If the battle continued on the same scale the drain of man power must cause anxiety.

Premier Lloyd George pointed out to the House of Commons that the German gains were over important territory and that from a German standpoint the drive had been a success. He said that the early coming of the American troops was to be hoped for.

At the conclusion of his address the Man Power bill which increased the age of conscription to 50 years and includes Ireland was admitted after a bitter debate in which the Nationalist members from Ireland declared that conscription would never be tolerated in Ireland.

The city council will hold a special meeting on next Friday evening and considerable business is awaiting the action of the members.

NO ESTIMATE OF BOND SALE TO BE GIVEN OUT

The local campaign for the liberty loan is going along with a rush, but no figures are available as under the ruling of the Secretary of the Treasurer, the local committees or district committees cannot issue any estimates but must come from the Federal Reserve Board in Washington.

This may interfere with the use of the large thermometer on the National Mechanical and Traders Bank, but it will not interfere with the campaign. Although there is nothing like knowing what is going on to stimulate the workers, the navy yard is making their usual hum and are confident that they will create a record that no yard in the country will touch, and as usual the Boat Shop is out for the shop flag.

The women's committee will begin a canvass of the city on Thursday. They will visit every house so that everybody should greet them courteously and above all things answer the door bell. If you have bought a bond may so and if not allow the ladies to explain how it can be done.

HEARST PAYS THE BILLS

Washington, April 9.—Positive charges that individual members of the German-American Alliance supported propaganda to mold the policy of the United States in the event of war with Germany were made today by Prof. E. E. Sperry of Syracuse University, before the Senate committee considering the bill to revoke the organization's charter.

Members, he said, backed the American embargo conference, the American Neutrality League and other organizations, which, he charged, were part of the Pan-German League.

German school teachers a year ago, he said, were teaching their charges that "the time is coming when Germans in the United States would have the right that is their due."

At the convention of the National German-American Alliance in New York, in 1907, he declared, William Randolph Hearst proposed establishment of an international German alliance, the effect of which, Sperry said, would have been to extend the activities of the German-American Alliance to Germany.

"Mr. Hearst offered to pay the expenses of the delegates from this country to Germany for that purpose," he said.

The plan never was carried out, he said, but delegates, at the expense of Mr. Hearst, went to Cambridge, Mass., where a dedication of a German memorial took place. At the same convention the German-American Alliance sent a message expressing cordiality and good will of the members to the German Emperor, Sperry said.

DOVER SHOOTING PROVES FATAL

Dover, April 10.—Bill Shaltos, one of the victims of the shooting affair at No. 1 Mill gate of the Pacific Mills, died Tuesday afternoon about 1:30 o'clock at the Wentworth hospital.

His condition since his removal to the hospital yesterday was considered serious, but the physicians thought that there was a possibility of his living. Athena Malanpanes, the other victim of the shooting is very much improved and it is expected that she will recover. At the time of the shooting it was understood that Miss Athena Malanpanes was the wife of the dead man but it was later learned that they had not been married.

It appears that several weeks ago James Malanpanes, the respondent complained to Captain Lottorp at the police station, that his sister, who was 16 years of age, had run away with Shaltos. The officers believed that the couple had left town to be married and did not pursue them. This fact is said to have made the respondent angry and that threats were made by him that he would shoot his sister and Shaltos. It is said that Shaltos and Athena Malanpanes had secured a marriage license and were intending to be married within a few days. The hearing has been postponed until Monday morning at 2 o'clock.

GIRLS MAY HAVE CAMP FOR MILITARY DRILLS
Young women employees of the Shipping Board and Emergency Fleet Corporation in Washington are planning a summer military training camp. It is intended to seek permission to drill on the White House grounds. Leaders in the movement expect to have 100 girls enrolled in the organization.

Details of the project are still to be worked out. It is proposed that the girls be drilled by an army officer, that they wear costumes of a military cut and live under discipline similar to that enforced in army camps.

GOV. LOUDEN CALLS FOR FEDERAL AID

(By Associated Press)
Washington, April 9.—Gov. Louden of Illinois has called upon the Federal government for advice and aid in suppressing disloyalty and disorder in that state. Attorney General Gregory has today notified him that special government agents will be assigned to assist and prosecute cases.

"WORK LIKE BLAZES" IS APPEAL OF LABOR CHIEF

A forceful appeal was voiced to America's shipworkers by M. J. McGuire, business agent of the Boiler-makers' Union, in a recent stirring address to the men of the Shaw-Batchelor Company, at Seattle.

Mr. McGuire pointed out to the men that they were awaiting them an opportunity never before presented in their lives. The American soldiers in France, he said, are begging for more and more ships to supply them with food and munitions.

Calling attention to a large service flag hung in honor of 267 employees of the yard who had entered the service and are now in France, he said that not a man of them is receiving double time for overtime, "and they are not laying off on Monday morning because they were out late Saturday night."

"There is no labor representative to speak in their behalf," he added. "These men declared that they were willing to go to the trenches of France. Some of them are waiting up to their knees in water, and they are willing to go there and lay down their lives, so that you and I might be free and democracy might prevail over all of this world."

"You have agreed to work eight hours a day, but the men in the trenches whom those stars represent work 24 hours a day. You expect to get paid for an eight-hour day and we expect that you will put in eight hours' work for it, and that on Monday morning every man will be here. There is something you will have to do while this war is on—work, work, work, like blazes!"

NEW HEAD FOR AIR PRODUCTION BOARD

Washington, April 9.—Virtual displacement of the Aircraft Production Board and appointment of William C. Potter of New York, formerly with the Cuggenheim interests, to direct the production of airplanes is understood here to be the solution of the airplane muddle. The President has authority to abolish the board, but probably will not exercise it, as to do so would be to humiliate the board and admit to great disorganization with its work. Bernard M. Baruch, chairman of the War Industries Board, is known to favor a change in the methods of airplane construction, and such an organization as will leave to military officers the duty of fighting and to the civilians the task of supplying them with munitions. The proposed plan also would relieve of much of his responsibilities in connection with airplane production. Major General George O. Squier, chief of the Signal Service, Mr. Potter for some time has assisted the purchasing department of the Aircraft Production Board.

Standing Behind the Soldiers.

The third Liberty Loan drive has started auspiciously in all parts of the country and there is no reason to doubt that the sum called for by the government, $3,000,000,000, will be easily raised and exceeded. The people have shown by previous action that they stand squarely behind the government in its great fight for world freedom. Thus far there are no signs of weakening, and there will be no weakening. The gigantic task to which the United States has set its hand in common with the other liberty-loving nations of the world must be completed, and it will be completed before the people lay down their arms in the knowledge that their work is done.

While buying Liberty bonds is not giving to the government, it means a loyal support without which it would be impossible for the United States to bear its share of the burden of suffering and sacrifice which unholly ambition relying upon brute force for its achievement has thrust upon the world. The money that is now being collected is loaned to the government, not given, but in the loaning the people give a support which is indispensable to success, and therefore every buyer of a bond, large or small, takes his place in the ranks of the fighting forces at home.

A few years ago there was a popular song entitled "The Man Behind." We have also been told that in war a good deal depends upon the man behind the gun, and all know this to be true. There are no truer soldiers and patriots in the world than the men standing behind the American guns on the battle lines, and it is the duty and the privilege of those at home to stand behind them. This they are disposed to do, this they are doing and this they will continue to do.

Impressive indeed are the demonstrations in behalf of the Liberty Loan. The decorations, the parades, the music and the speeches all go to show that the people are awake to the conditions which confront them and the world, that they are ready to meet the conditions and continue their exertions and sacrifices until the world shall have been made for democracy and for humanity.

This is the lesson taught by the Liberty Loan drive. There have been prompt and generous responses to previous calls, and the response now will be no less prompt and generous. And, no matter how many such calls it may be necessary for the government to make, it will find the people ready to stand behind the men who are standing behind the guns. The way to do this is to furnish the sinews of war without stint, and this the men and women of the United States will continue to do until the dire need shall have passed and the world shall be in the enjoyment of peace, with justice for all nations and peoples.

The birthplace of the immortal Daniel Webster has been presented to the State of New Hampshire and will be retained and cared for as a memorial of one of the greatest Americans. Although Mr. Webster was a citizen of Massachusetts when he achieved his fame and did his great work, he was a product of the Granite State, which should make his birthplace one of the country's shrines.

The patriotic demonstration at Freeman's Point the other day was of the right sort and reflected credit upon its promoters and all who took part. There are many duties to be performed by those who do not go to the front. The chief is to "Keep the home fires burning," and demonstrations like the one in question go far toward doing this.

The war has cost the government nine billion dollars in the first year, this sum including loans to the Allies. This is "big money," but there is plenty behind it and it will be cheerfully forthcoming until the job for which it is being raised is done, and done as it should be.

The Methodists of the state at their annual conference voted to petition the Legislature to make nine hours a legal working day. But in many states there is a clamor for eight hours, which already constitutes the working day in many lines of employment.

Can it be that in view of the fact that very soon there will be no license for selling liquor in this state some individuals are trying to get their hands in on a system of selling without license?

Perhaps with two assistants Secretary of War Baker will be able to wiggle along. He will probably insist upon being the "Foch" of the combination, and it may be just as well if he does.

"Stand by the army," says General Pershing. That is just what the country is doing and will continue to do till the prodigious last gun is fired.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

High Cost of Trotskyism
 (From the New York Herald)
 Those piles of Jewish dead at Klet and in Turkestan speak eloquently of the triumph of Bolshevism and its works.

He'll Try to Get Back of God
 (From the Albany Journal)
 Wonder what the Kaiser has to say when the "Vorwaerts mit Gott" formula doesn't work.

Long on Words; Short on Deeds
 (From the New York World)
 A strange thing about this war is the fact that the men who tell us every day that deeds and not words are necessary are the most loquacious of all our people—always on dress parade at banquets and always in the front rank among those present at every other talk-fest.

Weak Link in Germany's Chain
 (From the New York World)
 The discovery that the Dabinger motor works has been earning 173 per cent profit, 400,000,000 marks a month in excess of peace profits and far above its own statement, seems to show that German efficiency in the matter of book-keeping to curb profiteering is susceptible of improvement.

Squeezing the Fixed Income
 (From the New York World)
 Real estate men and building managers justify an increase of apartment house rentals on the ground that "everything pertaining to the upkeep of these buildings has gone up in cost." Everything pertaining to the tenants' household upkeep has also risen in cost, but that, of course is not the concern of the landlord.

Whacks That Count
 (From the New York World)
 Hats off to August Bekstein, riveter. He works at Port Newark; by keeping two beaters and two passer-boys busy, instead of one, he drove 1967 but tonhead rivets in a nine-hour day, doubling any previously known record. Mr. Bekstein's name sounds Teutonic, but few men are whacking the Kaiser more effectively.

Daughters of the Flag
 (From the Washington Daily Light)
 A war organization that is doing effective work in Chicago is a group of business girls who call themselves "Daughters of the Flag." They pledge a complete infant's outfit each month, regularly send books and magazines to the soldiers, make socks for sale, and set on foot different ways of raising money for patriotic movements. One chapter sent home-made candy, cakes and phonograph records to a sailor's club.

Throwing Stones in Glass Houses
 (From the New York Times)
 Representative Lenroot, elected a senator in Congress from Wisconsin last week, said on Saturday, as he had said before the election, that he would support Mr. Wilson in the Senate, as he had supported him in the House, in all measures helpful to the prosecution of the war. His Democratic opponent, Mr. Davies, could have promised no more.

The Somewhat Four Partisanship which, in the House of Representatives and out of it, the Wisconsin election has evoked, is a waste of time, to say no more. Both Democrats and Republicans are to blame. What boots it to put time-tables on the patriotism of the two parties, or to squabble as to which has the better or the worse "record" between the beginning of the European war and America's entrance into it.

Why not shut up about the past, be charitable—and both parties need a good deal of charity—to past errors, and without futile boast or quarrel, give every energy to the winning of the war?

Another Trench Mopped Up
 (From the Waterbury American)
 Massachusetts has ratified the federal amendment for prohibition. When put to the test the opposition in both legislative bodies collapsed, as it has everywhere else. The result is almost destructive of the faint hope that enough states in the East would hold out to prevent the early adoption of the amendment. There is reason to believe that other New England States will follow, with the possible exception of Connecticut, and even Connecticut is very doubtful. Indiana goes "dry" by State enactment, and thousands of saloons, breweries and distilleries close. It is a very serious time for people with money invested in the business of manufacturing and selling liquor, for those who think they can't get along without a regular stimulant and for those who count on occasional alcoholic relaxation to make life pleasant. The future also offers some serious thoughts as to where the burden of taxation, taken off liquor, is to fall.

A Foretaste of the Future
 (From the Detroit Free Press)
 Report that burglaries and crimes of violence are increasing prodigiously in Berlin tempts to the observation that the German Government is reaping in its own capital city the natural fruits of four years of broadcast sowing. Since the war began the Junkers have been indulging in an orgy of lies, lawlessness and loot. They have committed, either themselves or through agents, murder, rape, outrage and pillage on a scale which would have appalled Sennacherib. They have taught themselves and all who have fallen under their influence to disregard every law of decency, righteousness and honor, and it is natural that their instructions, thoroughly inculcated, should bear fruit in ways they did not anticipate and do not welcome. But lawlessness such as this in Berlin is unlikely to be the only reactive results of the repudiation of all the rules of right living of which the German ruling class has been guilty. In days to come, when the people of the Central Empires and particularly of Germany become impatient beyond curb because of the oppressive despotism of Berlin, they will begin to ask themselves why they should honor and trust and deal fairly with a Government which knows no honor, which is utterly untrustworthy, and which has made them hated of the whole world, and what will then happen to the Junkers is likely to be most interesting to observe.

Russia Self-Revealed
 (From the New York Herald)

For those persons in this country who have been assuming the existence of a Russian patriotism that would resent practical steps taken by the Allies in Siberia there is a world of information in a special cable dispatch sent by Mr. Herman Bernstein from Petrograd. Mr. Bernstein quotes at length, and interestingly, Dr. Schegoleff, historian and revolutionist editor, who supervised the investigation of cabinet members of the Czarist regime. Dr. Schegoleff gives his reasons for believing that the Bolshevik regime will last longer than many persons expect, though he admits that it is confronted by serious troubles; but what he has to say about Russian national feeling is more important. Russia, he says, is a great deceiver. It deceived the Czar, it deceived Milukoff, it deceived Kerensky and it is now deceiving Lenin. "We poets, authors and novelists," Dr. Schegoleff explains, "created a lofty conception of our nation. As a matter of fact, it is neither better nor worse than other nations, only the least cultured." When the provisional government appealed to love of country, he adds, the people failed to respond; when the Bolsheviks appealed to love of revolution they were also not responding effectively, "for the Russian people's ideas of patriotism and religion are undeveloped."

In other words, there is no patriotism in Russia to be appealed to, or to rise in resentment against the Allies taking control of Siberia.

Dr. Schegoleff frankly says that the revolution may operate to retard Russia for a century. Of the charge that the Bolsheviks received money from German sources he says: "They received financial aid from Germans before the war for use in Duma elections and they probably saw nothing wrong in receiving financial aid from them during the war."

It is a depressing picture, but who can say it is not accurate?

A New Way to Can the Kaiser
 (From the Philadelphia Public Ledger)

Enough garbage destroyed in twenty-nine American cities to have put 2,000,000 three-inch shells into the advancing ranks of the German army. There is some food for thought in that. The facts are not exaggerated, for they are based upon figures prepared by the United States Food Administration and are put before the public by the largest association of scientists in the world—the American Chemical Society. This waste is going on every year. It is time it was stopped, and the chemists are trying to bring that about.

This is a new and striking demonstration of the wastefulness of America, for this garbage has been wasted in the twenty-nine cities which have garbage reduction plants qualified to recover the grease and tannage. Glycerin and soap have gone up in price, and the lack of fat in Germany has been one of the most thoroughly emphasized facts during the whole war period—yet some 13,000,000 of Americans in those cities have been going ahead, throwing away what amounts to 1,300,000 pounds of nitrogenous and 25,000,000 twelve-ounce cakes of soap every year.

If all the garbage in America could be collected and treated, there would result a stream of nitrogenous which would go a long way toward drowning any German advance on the western front. It is, of course, out of the question to contemplate any universal garbage reduction plan, or even to extend the recovery system, just now, to cities which do not possess it. But it certainly is a public duty to see that where cities have reduction plants no slacker garbage shall escape. It should be distinctly good form, in this country, to hit the Kaiser through the garbage can.

Schools, Schools, More Schools!
 (From the Milwaukee Journal)

The scene was a back room of a school in one of the Milwaukee industrial districts. The crowd was composed of Herblans in the late thirties, factory workers and two foreign boys, about seven years old. The teacher was a volunteer worker. She was trying to teach this mixed assembly the rudiments of English, to Americanize them. "Who is the mayor of Milwaukee?" was one question.

"Mr. Mann," one big Serbian ventured. One little boy of seven countered quickly with a cry of "Toan."

"Who is the President of the United States?" was another question. Tense silence fell upon the room. Not one knew. "What is the work of the President and how is he named?" came again from the instructor. Not a reply.

this country. Long working hours made the men sleepy early. The instructor opened the windows. The drowsy reading exercise was varied in every way. The instructor, an enthusiast in the new national service, did her utmost to keep the interest of these overgrown schoolboys. Here were men eager to learn of America, yet with no means to do so until the war started. Only the crisis of war waked America to the urgent need of assimilating into the citizenship these lumps of foreign ignorance. The only bright spot of this lesson was the eager answer of the seven-year-old when the adults failed.

Schools, schools, more schools, are the urgent need alike of child and illiterate adult. And the shame of it is that such little time and patience is required to get these men into touch with some of the essential ideals in American institutions. Every factory owner in Milwaukee should take a personal interest in Americanizing his employees. It is a work in which many others should join. The problem must be met.

"POM POM"

Another of those Henry W. Savage comic operas such as brilliantly sold the memory of all interested in being entertained is to be heard here Saturday, April 13th at both matinee and evening. It is "Pom Pom," that producer Savage reckoned so highly, he chose it to set off his only star, the famous Mitzl. "Pom Pom" has been given great praise for being different in that it has a stirring melody for a story instead of the more or less fragmentary plot, and also because in the musical and yet "popular" melodies of Hugo Felix the public is offered music of the effectiveness French style in place of the Viennese school so prevalent in the past dozen years.

When "Pom Pom" remained at the leading drawing room on Broadway until the season had lengthened into a torrid July with a record of 200 nights, and the well delighted verdict of historians and Chicago's fun makers had also been written in praise, there seemed little doubt that "Pom Pom" was another of the Merry Widows, Prince of Elsen and Surtis that Henry W. Savage seems able to provide at regular intervals.

In its leading role he placed the tiny but unforgettable Mitzl, alive to her finger tips with dramatic comedy and around her he gathered a cast of almost the importance of individual stardom with an exceptional orchestra and a chorus of singers and ballet in keeping with the Henry W. Savage standards.

The buoyant and infectious music of this piece has been sang and photographed widely. Such principal numbers as "Pom Pom," "Gypsy, Quit Your Devil," "Kiss Me," "In the Dark" and "Men Dear" have become the hits of the times and are being sung from Broadway to the battle line.

Around the original plot brought to Mr. Savage by Mitzl herself, Anne Caldwell, author of the brilliant "Chin-Chin" wrote the merry book. The character of Paulette who changes to the trousers and name of Pom Pom when she is taken from the theatre stage to police headquarters in a wholesale raid by officers, brings a new Mitzl to the public. In place of the Dresden china star of "The Spring Maid" and the playful comedienne of "Surtliff," Mitzl in "Pom Pom" is an elfin creature of infinite powers of mimicry and humor, and it is told that now have come opportunities that Mitzl's fulfillment have caused her to be ranked the leading comedienne in light opera of the American stage.

"HEARTS OF THE WORLD"

The biggest event in the entire season in the world of motion pictures will be the presentation of D. W. Griffith's latest film masterpiece, "Hearts of the World," beginning next Tuesday, April 16th, at the Majestic Theatre, under the management of William Elliott, F. Ray Costello and Morris Kent.

"Hearts of the World" required eighteen months in the making, and many of the scenes were taken on the actual battlefields of France by Mr. Griffith, with the official aid and assistance of the British and the French governments. Mr. Griffith, however, is anxious to remove any apprehension that "Hearts of the World" is primarily a war picture. It is, he announces, primarily a love story, in which war figures as the grim background. It may be called "the story of a village," and for more than forty minutes during the exposition of the story, there is not a cannon shot, not a suggestion of war's alarms. There is the pretty romance of two girls in love, there is the quiet and peaceful atmosphere of a small French town before the holocaust of war.

Mr. Griffith is anxious to have it understood that while "Hearts of the World" deals with war and love, it is a drama he has staged, rather than a propaganda film. Yet no one can sit through his wonderful pictorial representation of the tragedy of bleeding France, without going forth more determined than ever that this conflict must be won, that the Allies must triumph over their adversaries, and that such grim horrors of war must never happen again in the history of the world.

Mr. Griffith will arrive in Boston to have personal charge and supervision of the initial showing of "Hearts of the World."

PORTSMOUTH HAS BUILT LARGE SHIPS

The question is often asked: How large ships were built at Portsmouth when it was a shipbuilding port. As large as at any port. It built ships from 3 to 400 tons at first, but as the demand for larger pocket ships arose, it built them, and when the demand for large clipper ships came it built them, among them the fastest.

The following are some of the ships built at this port between 1800 and 1899: 1200 tons, between 1810 and 1860: John Haven, Empire, America, Constantine and Adelaide, Eagle, Speed, Express, Frank Pierce, Colorado, George and Gov. Langdon, Noonday, Sift of Hope, Herculita, Mary, Morning Glory, Emily Farrum, Sagamore, James Buchanan, Charlesworth, Anne Deatur, Nightingale, Hope Goodwin, Red Rover, Coer de Lem.

Ships over 1200 tons: Columbia 1307, Sea Serpent 1402, Orient 1562, Morning Light 1713, Water Witch 1241, Witch of the North 1429, Webster 1729, Arkwright 1214, Cathedral 1697, S. C. Thetis 1511, Isaac H. Bonard 1453, Darling Wave 1237, Empire State 1221, Typhoon 1609; and many others, among them the Sierra Nevada, 1942 tons.

The change from pocket ship to clipper ships came in the middle of the last century. The first clipper ship was the Rainbow, built in 1845. It was made to compete with steamers across the Atlantic and for the China and India trade and to handle the rush for gold to California. Since 1880 schooners have taken the place of square rigged vessels. The largest schooner ever built was the Guy Ames. She was 653 tons larger than the Great Republic, the largest clipper ship ever built. Steamers took the place of sailing vessels because they are more economical, but they have come back since the war.

No doubt Portsmouth has built 3000 merchant ships. One builder built 100. Phelanquon was building ships and loading them with spars and lumber and sending them to England as soon as the early settlers landed and set up their saw mills. Phelanquon furnished the lumber to build up London after the great fire of 1666, and that gave demand for ships, which were built here, some as large as 400 tons. The larger ships carried the spars for the British navy and often to the French and Spanish navies. In fact we were the spar and lumber market of the world.

NAVY YARD NOTES

Captain Parker Transferred From Ensign School

Captain James P. Parker, U. S. N., who has commanded the Ensign School at Cambridge during the first three years has been detached from his position and is to be military chief of the first naval district. He will serve as an aid to Admiral Wood, commander of the district, and will have charge of the military personnel.

Lieut. Chester L. Dane who has been acting as second in command, has taken over the leadership for the present. There is a possibility that he may receive the appointment permanently. Lieut. J. N. Furston has been assigned to the school as instructor in regulations.

Took "G" Out of Germania

Bluejackets at Charleston, S. C., armed with hammer and chisel, got busy at the Germania bank, one of the leading institutions of that kind in the city. They cut the letter "G" from the word Germania and might have gone further only for the arrival of police and provost guards. The bank has been under guard for some time. The sailors took exception to Old Glory being displayed below the sign of the large bank clock, which they smashed with the "G." The affair caused much excitement being staged in the retail district of the city at its business hour. No arrests were made.

Shore Team vs. Ship Crew.

A baseball team from the yard and another from one of the ships are battling on the yard diamond this afternoon.

Back From New York.

Naval Constructor L. S. Adams is back from a business trip to New York City.

Junior Lieutenant Reports.

Junior Lieut. Hanning has reported for duty in the industrial Department and will be assigned to the electrical shops.

On Sick List.

Miss Mary L. Kivron, enrolled as a yeoman and attached to the supply department, is confined to her home by illness.

Liberty Bond is $139,350.

The Liberty Bond purchase up to noon today reached $139,350, over half the amount which the yard planned to realize. The full amount is expected to be subscribed for in three or four days more.

"SO LONG LETTY" RETURNS.

Oliver Morosco is again to invade Boston, presenting at the Shubert Theatre, next week, for a return engagement, his big musical success, "So Long Letty," which will be pleasantly remembered by many local theatre-goers who laughed at and enjoyed the eccentric qualities of Charlotte Greenwood and her capable supporting company, which remains practically intact.

The story of "So Long Letty" is taken from Oliver Morosco's former success, "Your Neighbor's Wife," which was made into its present form by Mr. Morosco and the original author. It deals in a humorous way with two couples residing in the trolley car colony on San Francisco Bay, the male members of which feel that they would be much happier and better suited if united with the wife of the other, and an exchange of wives is arranged for on the basis of a week's trial, at the end of which they realize the folly of their ways and return to their own fireside. The humorous situation contained therein continues through the two acts, the first showing the exterior of two of these trolley car homes, the second act being the interior of one of the cars. This locale affords ample opportunity for the many amusing numbers and specialties with which the play abounds.

The same great cast will be seen, including Sidney Grant, May Bailey, and Walter Catlett. Popular prices will prevail at the Wednesday and Saturday matinees, the best orchestra seats being one dollar. Evenings' prices range from 50c to $1.50, and no higher is charged.

BUSY SESSION OF YORK COUNTY PROBATE COURT

The April term of probate court for York County was opened at Biddeford on Tuesday before Judge Ayer.

The will of George E. Patterson, of Biddeford who died a number of weeks ago was presented. Mr. Patterson left an estate estimated at $11,000, consisting of real estate and personal estate. To his sister, Sarah Patterson of Saco he gives his money in the Portland Savings bank and the Maine Savings bank at Portland. To his son and daughter, Mrs. Ella F. Hooper of Saco, he gives a part of his farm on the Hollis road. The rest of the farm, along with the remainder of the estate is given to his wife, Mary L. Patterson.

The will of Charles P. Stockman, late of Saco was filed. There was no estimation of any estate.

By this will, the daughter, Mrs. Grace Miliken is given $100, and the son Arthur N. Stockman, the remainder of the estate.

The will of Mary A. Huff of Biddeford was presented for notice. Mrs. Huff's estate is estimated at $10,000, of which $500 is real estate and the remainder personal.

She gives the sum of $25 to her sister, Emma D. Rhodes of Saco, and a like sum to her brother, Benjamin F. Coolbrith of Saco. The sum of $100 is given to the Laurel Hill cemetery association to be held in trust for the annual and perpetual care of her burial lot.

Wills were filed for notice in the following estates:

Hannah H. Garvin, late of Sanford, $300 personal; Daniel Haynes, late of Kittery, $6000 real, $100 personal. Francis C. Hamblett, late of York, claim that may benefit her estate.

DECLARES THEM SLACKER MARRIAGES

Local Board Overruled by District Board Who Make Arbitrary Ruling on all Marriages Since May 1917.

The New Hampshire District Draft Board have sustained the appeal of Attorney John L. Mitchell, the department representative of this city, in all but three of the cases of men who were married since May 18 and who had been placed in class 1 by the Local Board.

Under the regulations Mr. Mitchell had to appeal all such cases as a matter of fact and with three exceptions the District Board sustained him and virtually charged all of the men with "slacker marriages," ignoring the ruling of the draft regulation and the supplementary ruling of the Provost Marshall on Feb. 6.

As the District Board have only had the appeals eight days and have had but one meeting in that time it is evident that they have made an arbitrary ruling to include all such cases. It looks as though they had accepted the ruling of former Justice Charles E. Hughes of New York who as chairman of a board ruled that all such cases should be placed in Class 1 on the presumption that they had entered into the marriage to evade the law. To correct this the Provost Marshall in Bulletin No. 16, issued in February, charged that no general rule should be laid down and that every case should be decided on its merits.

The local war board, before they classified the men made an investigation of each case and in each case in which they were overruled they found that the marriages were not contracted to evade military service.

They are backed up in their ruling by the original ruling of the War Department in Rule V of the draft regulations of 1917 which says:

Rule V.—On May 18, 1917, every person subject to registration had notice of his obligation to render military service to his country. The purpose of the Selective Service Law was not to suspend the institution of marriage among registrants, but boards should scrutinize marriages since May 18, 1917, and especially those hastily effected since that time, to determine whether the marriage relation was entered into with a primary view of evading military service, and unless such is found not to be the case boards are hereby authorized to disregard the relationship so established as a condition of dependency requiring deferred classification under these regulations.

Following the ruling of former Justice Hughes in New York the Provost Marshall issued the following notice to the War Boards in Bulletin No. 16, issued in February of this year, which appears to be very plain:

The Provost Marshall General rules as follows:—"While the effects of Rule V, page 36 S. R. 18, are to require boards to scrutinize marriages since May 18, 1917, it was never intended that the rule should raise the presumption that every marriage since that date was effected with the primary purpose of evading military service, that rule was intended to authorize the boards to disregard the relationship created by clearly established 'slacker marriages' as a condition of dependency but each case must be carefully examined on its own merits.

One case in particular, shows that

No general rule can be laid down, but it may be stated that a marriage that carries no evasive circumstances other than its date is not to be so disregarded."

Under this ruling the local board claim that they were right in their classification, and that the District Board had no ground for their ruling as under the regulations they could not take any evidence except that presented by the local board. Whether those who have been declared "Slacker Marriages" will appeal to the local board to reopen their case, as they have a right to do, is of course, not known.

The following are the cases that were appealed and the ruling.

George A. McNetters, Portsmouth, Class 1, appeal of government not sustained.

J. A. McCarthy, Portsmouth, sustained and placed in class 1.

Charles Leon Weaver, Portsmouth, sustained and placed in class 2 d.

Albert C. Thompson, Newfields, sustained class 3, a.

W. H. Simey, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

H. E. Slater, Portsmouth, not sustained, remains in class 1 a.

Thomas S. Madden, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Harold L. Dow, Hampton, sustained, class 1.

Leslie F. Lovett, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Fred L. Hoyt, Portsmouth, sustained, class 1.

Arthur P. Brown, Dover, sustained, class 1.

Millard E. Dalton, Hampton Falls, sustained class 1.

Ned S. Band, Rye, sustained class 3 b.

Fred G. Proctor, Hartford, Conn., sustained class 1.

Myron J. Norton, Hampton, sustained, class 1.

Oscar C. Bowley, East Kingston, not sustained class 3 a.

Charles D. Mann, Hampton, sustained class 1.

Arthur H. Craig, Jr., Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Thomas W. Wiggin, Portsmouth, sustained class 2 d.

Harold L. Winn, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Clyde G. Robinson, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

John H. Bailey, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Alfred H. Barentzen, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Pauline Bathistell, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Charles E. Brackett, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Philip O. Yeaton, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Dennis J. Kelley, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

Cedric L. Wood, Portsmouth, sustained class 1.

This means that all of the cases that are sustained the men go into class one, will be called immediately for physical examination and will take their places in their order for the next draft.

One case in particular, shows that

Little investigation was made by the District Board, Charles Leon Weaver when he was married, was at that time in the service in England in the Naval Reserve and some months after he was discharged for physical disability, and now the District Board practically charges him with a "slacker marriage."

NAVY OFFICER IN FOUR WARS OF THE U. S.

Boston, April 10—Lieut. Commander Henry H. Rhodes, U. S. N., has the distinction of being the only Civil War veteran in active service. In addition he has the honor of taking part in four wars of the United States in his 57 years of active service, during which time he has risen in the ranks from private to his present position as supervisor and administrative officer of the naval overseas transportation service of the first naval district.

At the present time he is in charge of a staff of officers and may be seen all day long at his headquarters in the little building, solving the difficult problem of transportation of men and food of New England to the other side.

A descendant of Roger Williams, he was born in New York city 74 years ago. At the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted as a private.

OBITUARY

Thomas J. Brooks.

Thomas J. Brooks, a life long resident of this city, passed away at the Portsmouth hospital at noon today for a recent operation. Deceased was 59 years of age and until his admittance to the hospital was employed in the power plant at the navy yard. For many years he followed the printer's trade and was employed by the Portsmouth Chronicle. He served a cruise in the navy at this trade, and was attached to the U. S. S. Hartford under the late Capt. Carpenter of this city. He was a most faithful worker and a man who was well known and liked by a wide circle of acquaintances. Besides his wife, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Michael Donnelly; one brother, James, and a sister, Mrs. Thomas Hegan, all of this city.

Charles F. Sise

Charles Fleetwood Sise, president of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, who served as an officer on the Confederate privateer Alabama during the Civil War in the United States, died at his home in Montreal Tuesday from pneumonia.

Mr. Sise was one of Canada's foremost business men, was born in this city in 1844, and was brought up in the South near the estate of Jefferson Davis, President of the Southern Confederacy. During the Civil War he was sent to England by Davis as a special messenger with funds for the construction of a Confederate commerce destroyer on which he later served as an officer.

After the war he went to Montreal where he founded with others, the Bell Telephone Company of Canada, of which he was made president, a position he retained until his death. He was also the founder of other public utility corporations and metal manufacturing companies.

In 1859 he was a sea captain and sailed from Portsmouth. He left Portsmouth for Montreal in 1872. He leaves a widow and five children, Miss Adelle Sise, Mrs. Ernest Nash, Charles F. Sise, Edward F. Sise, Paul F. Sise. He was an uncle of F. M. Sise of this city.

RED CROSS GETS GOOD SUM

Wrestling Match in Which Dryden Defeats Charles Metro Nets Red Cross $350.00

Bill Dryden defeated Charlie Metro of Claremont, in a wonderfully fast match at Freeman's hall on Tuesday evening and incidentally the Portsmouth Chapter of the Red Cross benefited to the sum of $350.00. The match was given for the Red Cross, Dryden giving his time and all of his staff with the police contributed their time, while Metro worked for just his expenses, for which he is due for the thanks of the Red Cross.

It was a clever thing of Dryden and he not only took on one of the best men in the country for the match, but he has devoted his time to selling tickets and making the receipts as much as possible.

The match was a splendid exhibition of fast and hard wrestling between two men who are well matched and nearly the same weight. Dryden having a few pounds on the Claremont man, but not enough to make much difference. The match was attended by a good sized crowd, and there were many ladies present, a good part of the gallery being taken by them, the workers at the Red Cross room being well represented.

Metro is a very clever man, strong and willing and possesses a fine knowledge of the game. He is a clean wrestler and as a result it was free from any objectionable roughness, but nevertheless a strenuous match. But as he explained after the match, "Dryden is too strong for me and some heavier."

The first fall went to Dryden in 39 minutes with a combination of a toe hold and a half nelson and it was after some very fast going, in which they worked with lightning speed at times.

The second fall went to Metro who caught Dryden off his guard and worked a rear arm bar and a crotch, pinning his shoulders to the mat in twelve minutes.

The third round and match went to Dryden after 27 minutes with a hammer lock and a half nelson, although Metro in this bout worked very hard to get Dryden where he could pin him but each time the local man worked free.

The preliminaries were a draw match between Young Shaw and Young McLean of this city and a finished match between Butcher Smart and Jack Blodgett of the navy, the former winning in straight falls the first in eight minutes and the second in a few minutes after they came back.

John Kilonis was here and challenged Dryden, the winner take all, and after the match Dryden announced that he would wrestle Kilonis next Monday evening although he had arranged a match with Pinky Gardner for the date.

Metro after the match gave a very clever exhibition of physical culture, of which he is a teacher when not wrestling.

MRS. WILSON NAMES SHIPS

Many of the new ships of the Emergency Fleet Corporation are being named by Mrs. Wilson, wife of the President. The first lady of the land hit upon the happy idea of selecting Indian names for a large number of the ships first launched and about 120 have already been given names taken from the language of the original Americans. Already Mrs. Wilson has renamed the German and Austrian ships taken over by the United States. She has a much larger assignment ahead when launchings begin to hit their real stride and when she rechristens the Dutch vessels taken over by the United States.

SAVE YOUR HAIR! A SMALL BOTTLE STOPS DANDRUFF

Every bit of dandruff disappears and hair stops coming out.

Try this! Your hair appears glossy, abundant, wavy and beautiful.

This, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Dandergine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a small bottle of Knowlton's Dandergine from any drug store or toilet counter for a few cents, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.

Dandergine is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. Its clarifying and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow long, strong and beautiful.

SPORT NOTES OF INTEREST

Three baseball teams are being organized at the local navy yard and Paymaster Thornes has received permission from the commandant to pick the best players from the various clubs to represent the navy yard in the Portsmouth Sunset League. Mr. Thornes will apply for admittance to the league when the directors hold a meeting, which will be in the near future. The navy boys have received their uniforms and other equipment and are anxiously awaiting the opening of the season.

The match between Bill Dryden and Charlie Metro at Freeman's hall Tuesday evening proved to be an excellent contest and the match was the cleanest seen in this city for some time. Dryden appeared to have about ten pounds in weight on Metro, but in spite of the handicap the man from Claremont gave a good account of himself. The hold that gained Charlie the second fall was a clever move and one of the best ever seen here. Metro, at the conclusion of the match, made a hit with the fans by his compliment to Dryden and also by his demonstration of physical culture.

Tuesday night's wrestling match again goes to show that none of the 150-165 pound men have much chance against Bill Dryden. While these men are all clever wrestlers, they lack both the weight and strength to hold their own with the local farmer. A grappler to make Dryden really exert himself, must not only be clever, but should weigh in the vicinity of 175 pounds. Kilonis will be the next on the list of victims. John is without doubt one of the very best wrestlers of his weight in the country. (Dryden is also one of the best at his weight.) So unless John can add 10 pounds to his present weight which is about 163, he will hit the floor just as hard as did Poulos, Joe Turner, Metro, and a number of other crack middleweights. This also holds good for Pink Gardner, Mike Yokel and the rest of their class, all of whom weigh under 170.

Weather permitting, the officers of the South Dakota and the yard officers will cross bats at the navy yard this afternoon. There are a number of fast ball players among the yard officers and one or two of them may be seen in the lineup of the team that will represent the navy yard in the Sunset League.

Considerable interest is attached to the wrestling match Friday night at Don Molnes, Ia., between John P. Olin of Worcester, Mass., and Earl Caddock, now a sergeant in the army. It will probably be the last appearance of Caddock on the mat in this country as he is soon to start for "over there." Olin is in good condition to meet Caddock. The husky soldier enjoys the distinction of being the only famous heavyweight who has voluntarily enlisted in Uncle Sam's forces and is considered the peer of them all in the mat game.

Local parties who have been negotiating with the manager of Jack Barry's Boston Navy Yard baseball team, revealed word Tuesday that the negotiations have four open dates—two in April and two in May. The dates and other conditions were unsatisfactory to the local promoters and unless other arrangements can be made, it isn't likely that the former captain of the Boston Red Sox and his ball tossers will be seen in Portsmouth.

An extensive trip in the east is the feature of the baseball schedule of West Virginia University. Dartmouth will be played at Hanover, April 29. On the trip the Mountaineers will play Syracuse, Colgate, West Point, Worcester Poly, Wesleyan, Fordham, the navy and probably the noted "Usacs" of Allentown to fill the one unsettled date.

It is understood that the various service ball teams in this vicinity will again form a league this season and they will be granted the use of the Playgrounds diamond.

Young Grady of Fort Constitution will probably be down on the card of the next boxing show to be presented by the Rockingham A. C. An effort will be made to secure a well known Boston professional as Grady's opponent. Other good bouts are being arranged for the next show.

John Kilonis will go to Portland, Me., today where he is booked to meet Soldier Katron of Fort Preble this evening. John has trimmed all the other star wrestlers in the Pine Tree State and as Katron is the lightest of the bunch, he should not have a great deal of trouble in defeating the soldier.

DAVISON AT ITALIAN FRONT

Italian Headquarters in Northern Italy, Monday, April 8 (By the Associated Press)—H. P. Davison, chairman of the American Red Cross war council, accompanied by Colonel Robert P. Perkins, head of the American Red Cross mission to Italy, and Major Ivy Lee of the American Red Cross, arrived at headquarters this morning. They were received by General Diaz, the Italian commander-in-chief, and later by Premier Orlando. They will visit the Duke of Aosta, commander of the Plave front tomorrow, and inspect the military and relief work in progress along the fighting line.

Their conversations with the premier and commander-in-chief enabled the Americans to explain the scope of their work and their desire to render every possible service to Italy. Mr. Davison told General Diaz his main purpose was to see the war relief work for himself, so as to be able to make necessary plans and also to report to the American people how their money is being spent.

Premier Orlando and General Diaz expressed the highest appreciation of what Americans were doing. They said it amounted to much more than material relief for the wives and children of soldiers, although this had been highly beneficial. The chief good, they explained, had come from the further strengthening of the friendly ties between Italy and the United States, with the resultant moral as well as material assistance.

Mr. Davison received many courtesies from Italian officials, who are doing everything to enable him to have a comprehensive view of the war zone.

PROPOSED IRISH DRAFT CAUSES UPROAR IN COMMONS

London, April 9.—When an emergency had arisen which made it necessary to put men of fifty and boys of eighteen into the fight for liberty, Mr. Lloyd George declared in Parliament today, it was not possible to exclude Ireland from conscription, by a Parliament in which Ireland was represented, and which had committed the country to the war without a dissenting voice.

The character of the quarrel in which the country was engaged, the premier said, was as much Irish as English.

When he referred to Ireland, Alfred Byrne, Nationalist member from Dublin shouted:

"We won't have conscription in Ireland!"

An uproar followed.

HONOR FLAGS TO NINE CITIES AND TOWNS

(By Associated Press)

Boston, April 9.—Honor flags were awarded to nine New England cities and towns for over-subscription of the third Liberty Loan as checked up by the official returns to the New England committee. They include Stamford and West Stewarstown in this state.

Reports received today indicate that several cities are well over their quota and they will be awarded the flag as soon as they can be checked up.

Are You Doing Anything To Help Win The War?

The Fuel Administration says we must save Fifty Million tons of coal in 1918. They say the kitchen range is largely responsible for the coal shortage last year. Estimates show the average family uses about 1000 pounds of coal monthly for cooking. To produce gas for the same amount of cooking only about 300 lbs. are used at the central station. You must realize that by the use of gas you are helping save the coal. We are always ready to show you how you can save both coal and money by the use of gas.

FRENCH AND BRITISH GIVE GROUND BEFORE GERMAN ASSAULT

(By Associated Press)

As has been anticipated, the Germans have switched the center of their operations on the Amiens sector and are now hammering the British and Portuguese troops hard on a front of eleven miles extending from Oisemont to La Bassée in the vicinity of Arras.

The attack was preceded by a terrific bombardment and the country for miles around smothered with the roar of the big guns. At some points the enemy was able at the expense of heavy casualties to penetrate the British front line at Neuve Chapelle and at Bauguesart and Cardonville farm.

In the meanwhile along the greater part of the old line all south of Arras the artillery of both sides have been roaring all day, but except in isolated cases the infantry kept to their trenches and there was no change of line.

Near the Coucy forest the French have made a slight retirement to a previously prepared position, the manoeuvre being in the nature of a blue straightening. So well was the operation carried out by the French, that the enemy suffered great casualties from the French guns in moving up after they had moved out.

Details of the part played by the American Engineers in the first few days of the great German assault, have been received, they show that the engineers dropped their tools and taking up arms helped the Canadians in the repulse of an assault and were able to inflict great casualties upon the massed German troops as they advanced in front of their line.

Realizing the extreme critical position of Great Britain in man power, caused Premier Lloyd George to inform the House of Commons Tuesday that it was no longer possible to exclude Ireland from the draft and that the age of military service had been advanced to fifty years and in some cases to fifty-five years.

The Premier declared that a bill providing for a measure of self government in Ireland would be immediately introduced into Parliament. During the Premier's address "on the Irish question he was repeatedly interrupted by the Nationalist members who declared that Ireland would never submit to conscription.

There are still no indications of any immediate beginning of the long anticipated offensive on the Italian front. There has been heavy bombardments and artillery action along the entire front, but no movement of infantry. Well directed shots from the Italian artillery have played havoc with the Austrian ammunition dumps and supply stations and direct hits were reported and several large fires reported in the Austrian lines.

A Turkish Communication announces the capture of Van in Turkish Armenia.

In Finland the Germans are preparing to take Helsinki according to dispatches from Petrograd. They have already demanded the Russians to disarm and that all warships in Finnish waters be dismantled. The Russian commission it is understood, have agreed to this.

The landing of the Japanese troops in Vladivostok have created friction between the Bolsheviki government and Japan and Nicholai Lenin the Russian Premier, in a speech at Moscow said that Russia would be forced to declare war on Japan.

A British torpedo destroyer was sunk in a collision and all of the crew are reported lost.

THIS YEAR'S

can't bring much more than we now have in the way of flours--rye, whole wheat, graham or half-and-half. Along with the general wetness is our whetted appetite.

But there's also the flower of the Army to take care of so it's still save, save, save. Don't overlook the saving of time and energy, either, because these are the big factors in producing enough money to save for the war and leave enough over to spend, so we won't be weakened or behind the times after the war.

It's a fateful month. Every war we've been in has begun in the month of rain, which may be why the clouds now hang over certain parties that reign. True enough, every war cloud has a German silver lining but the devil is in for his dew.

WILL THIS CITY MAKE A GOOD RECORD?

When the war is over will the government find that the men at the navy yard and at the ship plants have made good? Will the record bespeak future prosperity or will we have proven that the government has not been honestly dealt with. Every community where government work is being done is, so to speak, on trial. Later our citizens will have to meet the record.

The government is in sore need of merchant as well as war ships. The need of the submarine is vital. The completion and commissioning of these ships—the time taken and cost will stand against Portsmouth's record in the war. Will it be good or bad; who can answer?

DURANT-COLPRIT

A pretty home wedding occurred last evening at 6 o'clock, the contracting parties being Miss Emma N. Durant and James E. Colpritt, both of this city. The nuptials taking place at their future home, 267 Broad street.

The parlor was prettily decorated for the ceremony with evergreen and jonquils. In the bay window an evergreen arch was arranged, under which the bride couple stood. Over the center of the arch the American flag and Union Jack were placed.

To the music of the "Bridal Chorus" from Lohengrin, rendered on the piano by Miss Vivian Colpritt, sister of the groom, the bride couple entered the room, being preceded by two little winsome brides, Louise and Jean Stanley, daughters of Rev. and Mrs. William L. Stanley. Louise acted as ring bearer, carrying the wedding ring on a white satin cushion placed in a dainty basket covered with jonquils. Her sister, Jean, carried a bouquet of jonquils and daffodils, and each wore a dainty yellow gown, carrying out the color scheme of the wedding decorations which were yellow and green.

The bride wore a gown of white voile and lace with white satin trimmings.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. William L. Stanley, pastor of the Middle Street Baptist church. In the presence of about 25 relatives and a few near friends of the bride and groom. At its conclusion an informal reception was held and refreshments of ice cream and assorted cake served. The dining room had adornments of jonquils and ferns prettily arranged. The bride's bouquet was cut by the bride and distributed to the guests.

Mr. and Mrs. Colpritt left on the evening train for Boston, their wedding trip to also include other cities. The going-away gown was of taupe shade, worn with white crepe de chine blouse and hat of black straw, with trimmings of blue ribbon and roses.

Both bride and groom are popular young people. The bride formerly resided in Portsmouth, Nova Scotia. The groom is employed by the Silas Pelce Company.

A choice collection of wedding gifts testified to the esteem of friends.

Among the out-of-town guests present were: Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Colpritt and family, Westbrook, Me.; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Colpritt, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ellis, Dover; Mrs. Fred Bulfinch, Eastport, Me.

FLYNN-HARNEDY

At the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning occurred the marriage of Miss Dorothy Scott Flynn, daughter of Bartholomew Flynn, and Timothy Harnedy, eldest son of Mrs. Mary Harnedy of this city.

Nuptial mass was celebrated and the marriage service performed by the pastor Rev. D. Alex Sullivan.

The couple had as attendants: Miss Mary Harnedy, sister of the groom, who acted as maid of honor, and Michael Harnedy, brother of the groom as best man.

The bride was attired in her traveling gown of heavy brown French serge, worn with Georgette crepe waist of champagne shade and straw hat of the latter tint, with trimming of heavy brown satin ribbon and pink roses. She carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses.

Her attendant wore a navy blue suit with white crepe de chine waist and hat of white trimmed with peacock blue satin ribbon and pink flowers. Her bouquet was of pink and white carnations.

A large company of friends of the couple attended the nuptials. A reception followed at the home of the bride, 1262 Islington street, attended by only the immediate relatives. A wedding breakfast was served, the menu including cold meats, salads, hot rolls, olives, ice cream and coffee.

Mr. and Mrs. Harnedy left later on their wedding trip which will include a ten days' stay in Boston and New York. Upon their return they will reside at 1262 Islington street.

Both bride and groom are well and favorably known. The groom is employed as a machinist at the navy yard.

The wedding gifts included a large display of silver, china and glass and a variety of articles, giving evidence of the popularity of the couple.

The bride's gift to her attendant was a gold bracelet. The groom presented the best man with a pair of gold cuff links.

BUY BONDS, SAYS BOK

(By the Editor of the Ladies' Home Journal)

If every woman in America correctly understood the safety to herself in an investment in a Liberty Loan Bond, I doubt if there would be many bonds left for the men to buy. These bonds should have an unusual attraction to a woman left with small means to invest, since she is generally not as well informed as a man with regard to safe investments. She wants to put her money where it is safe, because, as a rule, it is all that she has, but she does not know where to put it. There are thousands of such women all through the country who are naturally timid about investing their money, and I wish that my words might reach every woman so placed so that she might look for herself into the unusual opportunity offered her for a safe haven for her money. Her own intelligence would then quickly convince her that her dream of placing her money where she cannot lose it had come true. If any word of mine can help such a woman to reach a decision, I am only too glad to speak it and to urge her to do the double duty that is hers: First, the duty to the safety of her own money, and, second, the duty that she performs to her country when she buys a Liberty Bond.
